Research primers

-In-person primers for those of us unfamiliar with indexing and abstracting databases in Education and related disciplines. Sessions usually last about an hour.

One-time and ongoing assistance

-In-person or e-mail research help.

Reference and search management

UNB Libraries provides students and instructors with access to RefWorks, a powerful tool for managing literature searches and outputting references. Marc can assist in setting up an account and making use of various features.

Learn more about RefWorks here: <http://www.lib.unb.ca/instruction/RefWorks>

Instructor-specific services include:

Classroom sessions

-Introductory and advanced in-class instruction on using print/electronic resources relevant to the course at hand.

Library Blackboard

-Install and customize a Library Resources module in your Blackboard course. Library Blackboard is a course-level subject guide that provides students with a custom portal to relevant library resources.
